

Task 1: Process Diagram

Subject: The diagram below shows the floor plan of a public library 20 years ago and how it looks now. Summarise the information by selecting and reporting the main features, and make comparisons where relevant.

Model Answer #1

Response:

The diagram illustrates the transformation of the Central Library's floor plan over the past 20 years, revealing significant changes in the layout and allocation of space.

The two floor plans demonstrate a notable shift in the library's design, with various areas being repurposed or replaced to accommodate changing needs and technologies.

One of the most striking differences between the two layouts is the relocation and repurposing of various sections. For instance, the area previously dedicated to children's books has been converted into a lecture room, while the space housing CDs, videos, and computer games has been expanded and transformed into an area for storytelling events and fiction books.

Furthermore, the removal of tables and chairs has resulted in a more open-plan design. The adult fiction section has been relocated from the left to the right side of the passage, accompanied by self-service machines and an information desk. Additionally, a new area has been created for all reference books, and the reading room and enquiry desk have been replaced by a computer room and café, respectively, reflecting the evolving needs of the library's patrons.

Evaluation:

Overall Band Score: 9

Task Response (9): The report accurately summarizes the main features of the floor plan, making relevant comparisons between the past and present layouts. The writer effectively selects and reports the key changes, demonstrating a clear understanding of the task.

Coherence & Cohesion (9): The report is extremely well-organized, with a clear and logical flow of ideas. The writer uses cohesive devices effectively, making it easy to follow the message.

Lexical Resource (9): The writer demonstrates a wide range of vocabulary, using precise and sophisticated language to describe the changes in the library's layout. The use of words such as 'repurposed', 'accommodate', and 'evolving' showcases a high level of lexical control.

Grammatical Range & Accuracy (9): The report exhibits a wide range of grammatical structures, used with full flexibility and control. The writer's use of complex sentences, relative clauses, and verb tenses is accurate and appropriate throughout.

Model Answer #2

Response:

The illustrated diagram depicts floor plans of the central library and its transformation over the span of two decades.

Overall, significant changes have taken place in the central library's interior scheme, with alterations in the allocation of space and facilities, making it rather contemporary.

The library's layout two decades ago had diverse divisions designated for CDs, videos, computer games, children's books, adult fiction and non-fiction books, along with reading rooms for newspapers and magazines. Tables with chairs and an inquiry desk were located near the entrance as well. The mentioned layout catered to a diverse range of interests and needs, providing a traditional library setting.

Contrastingly, the present interior design of the central library reflects a rather modern approach, where distinct sectors are appointed for children's fiction books, reference books, a computer room, sofas for storytelling events, a lecture room, adult fiction books, and an information desk.

Additionally, self-service machines have been integrated into the library's interior layout, and a café is now situated near the entrance. These changes indicate a shift towards a more interactive and technology-driven environment.

Evaluation:

Overall Band Score: 9

Task Response (9): The report provides a thorough summary of the main features of the floor plans of the Central Library 20 years ago and now. It makes relevant comparisons between the two layouts, meeting the requirements of the task effectively.

Coherence & Cohesion (9): The report is well-structured with clear paragraphing. Ideas are logically presented, and there is a smooth flow of information from describing the old layout to the new one. Cohesive devices are used effectively to enhance the overall coherence.

Lexical Resource (9): The report demonstrates an excellent command of vocabulary with precise and varied language used throughout. The student effectively conveys the differences between the two library layouts using sophisticated vocabulary.

Grammatical Range & Accuracy (9): A wide range of grammatical structures is used accurately, showcasing the student's flexibility and control. There are no noticeable errors in grammar or punctuation, contributing to the overall clarity of the report.

Model Answer #3

Response:

The diagram illustrates the evolution of the Central Library's floor plan over the last two decades.

Significant changes have transformed the layout of the Central Library, with modifications in space allocation and facilities, making it more modern and user-friendly.

Two decades ago, the library's layout included sections for CDs, videos, computer games, children's and adult books, as well as reading rooms for newspapers and magazines. Tables with chairs and an inquiry desk were placed near the entrance, offering a diverse range of services in a traditional setup.

In contrast, the current floor plan of the Central Library embraces a contemporary design, featuring distinct areas for children's fiction, reference books, a computer room, storytelling spaces with sofas, a lecture room, adult fiction, and an information desk. The integration of self-service machines and the presence of a café near the entrance signify a transition to a more interactive and technology-focused library environment.

Evaluation:

Overall Band Score: 9

Task Response (9): The report fully addresses the task by summarizing the main features of the floor plans of the Central Library from 20 years ago and the current layout. Relevant comparisons are made between the two layouts, highlighting the significant changes that have occurred over time.

Coherence & Cohesion (9): The report is highly coherent and cohesive. Ideas are logically organized and connected, making it easy to follow the evolution of the Central Library's floor plan. Paragraphing is skillfully managed, enhancing the overall structure of the report.

Lexical Resource (9): The report demonstrates an excellent lexical resource. A wide range of vocabulary is used accurately and precisely to describe the different areas and facilities in both the old and current floor plans of the Central Library. The language used is sophisticated and natural, contributing to a high level of lexical control.

Grammatical Range & Accuracy (9): The report exhibits a wide range of grammatical structures used with full flexibility and control. Punctuation and grammar are consistently accurate, contributing to the overall clarity and coherence of the report.

Model Answer #4

Response:

The diagram illustrates the evolution of the Central Library's floor plan over the last two decades.

Significant changes have transformed the layout of the Central Library, with modifications in space allocation and facilities, making it more modern and user-friendly.

Two decades ago, the library's layout included sections for CDs, videos, computer games, children's and adult books, as well as reading rooms for newspapers and magazines. Tables with chairs and an inquiry desk were placed near the entrance, offering a diverse range of services in a traditional setup.

In contrast, the current floor plan of the Central Library embraces a contemporary design, featuring distinct areas for children's fiction, reference books, a computer room, storytelling spaces with sofas, a lecture room, adult fiction, and an information desk. The integration of self-service machines and the presence of a café near the entrance signify a transition to a more interactive and technology-focused library environment.

Evaluation:

Overall Band Score: 9

Task Response (9): The report fully addresses the task by summarizing the main features of the floor plans of the Central Library from 20 years ago and the current layout. It effectively compares the two layouts, highlighting the significant changes that have occurred over the years.

Coherence & Cohesion (9): The report is highly coherent and cohesive. Ideas are logically organized, and there is a clear progression of information from the past layout to the present layout. Paragraphing is skillfully managed, enhancing the overall readability and flow of the report.

Lexical Resource (9): The report demonstrates an excellent command of vocabulary. A wide range of precise and sophisticated vocabulary is used accurately to describe the different sections of the library and the changes in the floor plan over time. The language used is natural and effectively conveys the intended meaning.

Grammatical Range & Accuracy (9): The report exhibits a high level of grammatical range and accuracy. A variety of complex structures are used with full control, contributing to the overall coherence and clarity of the report. Punctuation and grammar are consistently correct, enhancing the quality of the writing.

Model Answer #5

Response:

The provided diagram illustrates the floor plan transformation of the Central Library over a span of two decades.

Overall, significant changes have taken place in the Central Library's layout, with alterations in the allocation of space and facilities making it more contemporary and user-friendly.

In the library's layout two decades ago, various sections were designated for CDs, videos, computer games, children's books, adult fiction and non-fiction books, along with reading rooms for newspapers and magazines. Tables with chairs and an inquiry desk were located near the entrance as well. This layout catered to a diverse range of interests and needs, providing a traditional library setting.

Contrastingly, the present floor plan of the Central Library reflects a more modern approach, where separate areas are designated for children's fiction books, all reference books, a computer room, sofas for storytelling events, a lecture room, adult fiction books, and an information desk.

Additionally, self-service machines have been integrated, and a café is now situated near the entrance. These changes indicate a shift towards a more interactive and technology-driven library environment.

Evaluation:

Overall Band Score: 9

Task Response (9): The report fully addresses the task by comparing the floor plan of the Central Library from 20 years ago with its current layout. The changes in the library's design and facilities are clearly outlined.

Coherence & Cohesion (9): The report is well-structured with clear paragraphing that aids in the coherence of ideas. The information is logically presented, making it easy to follow the comparison between the past and present layouts of the Central Library.

Lexical Resource (9): The report demonstrates a wide range of vocabulary used accurately and effectively. The language is precise and sophisticated, enhancing the description of the library's transformation over time.

Grammatical Range & Accuracy (9): A variety of grammatical structures are used with accuracy throughout the report. The sentences are well-constructed, and there are no noticeable errors in grammar or punctuation.